

Family Self-Sufficiency (FSS) Program

We know times are tough right now. If you've been laid off, lost hours, or are just worried about money, the FSS Program can help!

One-on-one support to help you get back on track

In the FSS Program, you are not alone. You have access to a team of highly trained financial coaches who will help you make progress towards your goals and provide the following support:

- ✓ Get connected to COVID-19 updates and resources
- ✓ Receive help paying bills and applying for other benefits
- ✓ Look for opportunities to increase your income or find a job
- ✓ Build emergency savings and plan for future loss of income
- ✓ Create a debt repayment plan for student loans, credit cards, etc.
- ✓ Receive free credit reports and advice to help improve credit

Receive deposits when you begin working again

Once enrolled, your housing provider will establish an account for you called the FSS Savings Account. When your rent increases from working more hours or going back to work, they will deposit the additional amount of money you pay in rent into this account. So long as your rent is higher than what it was when you started the program, you will continue to receive monthly deposits and build savings.
